#1 Seeing a man naked on a bike isn't going to have much of an impact on any kid. They have likely see their father or bother naked before.

#2 Sharing an uncensored video of a naked man on a bike to an audience of possibly 30 million kids on Twitter is arguably worse than riding a bike naked in front of a kid or two in a planned event that the kid's parent took them to.

#3 There are much much worse things the average kid will see or hear online and offline in a typical week.
